Is Joyce Meyer Word of Faith?

By Shawn Nelson
About Joyce Meyer

Joyce Meyer is one the most influential religious teachers of our day. Her radio ministry reaches an estimated three billion people worldwide. She has become a New York Times bestselling author, with 70 books to her name and is received with “rock star” status at over a dozen worldwide conferences each year.¹ Many are inspired by her story: nearly her entire childhood marred with horrific sexual abuse, she overcame, and maintaining a positive attitude, has attained unfathomable success. Her transparent, direct, highly practical teaching style appeals to many.

Controversy

Yet her teaching is not without controversy. Websites, articles, books and video documentaries can be found which attempt to connect Joyce Meyer to outspoken Word of Faith teachers. Some material is more balanced than others. This book is an obvious attempt to answer the question “Is Joyce Meyer Word of Faith?” while remaining as fair to Joyce Meyer as possible.

First, What Does She Say?

If we were to ask Joyce, “Are you a Word of Faith teacher?” how would she respond? Apparently, many have asked her this question—it’s listed on her “Frequently Asked Questions” (FAQ) page. Her response:

“Joyce Meyer Ministries believes in the Word of God. Joyce teaches that God has made promises to us in His Word and as believers, we should trust His promises (see 2 Peter 1:3,4). However, it can be damaging when people place their faith in faith alone instead of placing their faith in God. Misappropriation of God’s promises solely for personal gain is not scripturally supported.”

What about whether she is a “prosperity gospel” preacher? There’s an entry for that too:

“Joyce Meyer Ministries believes that God desires to bless His people. Joyce teaches that God’s blessings and prosperity apply to the spiritual, emotional, physical and financial areas of life. These blessings and prosperity are then to be used to bless others (see Genesis 12:2). A “prosperity gospel” that solely equates blessing with financial gain is out of balance and could damage a person’s walk with God.”

\(^2\) Ibid., FAQ item 13.

\(^3\) Ibid., FAQ item 14.
I’m convinced that the many people who took the time to ask these questions want concrete answers, and that they will find both of these statements the same way I do: unsatisfactory! Is that a yes? Or a no? What exactly is she saying? Worse, on her FAQ page it says she is non-denominational.¹ Then where did her enormous ministry come from? Which group, exactly, is she aligned with?

A Careful Investigation Is Needed

Serious challenges await anybody wanting to know Joyce’s position on the Word of Faith movement. She’s not a theologian and her teaching is not systematic. Therefore, we only get bits and pieces of her theology at any given time. The phrase “Word of Faith” is completely absent from her written teaching. She does not mention any Word of Faith teachers by name. She seems to be acutely aware that her doctrine is under heavy scrutiny and seems to craft her opinions in a way which avoids dividing her fan base. It’s clear that a more careful investigation is needed. Therefore, four categories will be examined to see whether Joyce Meyer is indeed Word of Faith or not. These areas are (1) her education, (2) her teaching, (3) her platform and (4) her lifestyle. First is her education.

¹ Ibid., FAQ item 12.

1. Joyce Meyer’s Education

A person’s education can reveal much about what they believe and value. Joyce’s website says she “holds an earned PhD in theology from Life Christian University [LCU] in Tampa, Florida.” Anybody visiting the site will soon find the school’s distinguished list of graduates; Joyce’s name is listed here alongside radical Word of Faith icons Kenneth Copeland, Benny Hinn, Rodney Howard-Browne and others. The site also shows that Copeland and Hinn have the exact same degree as Joyce (a PhD in Theology). If she studied the same material, this would certainly indicate she shares many of the same beliefs these Faith radicals; or would it?

It’s possible that Copeland, Hinn, et. al., ventured into Word of Faith territory after receiving their degree. So the question is How Word of Faith is the school? What kind of theology do the

---

5 Ibid., FAQ item 6.

7 Ibid. This is significant; quotes from Copeland and Hinn will be given in the next section.
students learn? I contacted the school to find out. I was told, “Most of the books we use as textbooks are from Brother Hagin, Brother Copeland, and other faith ministers. We are definitely Word of Faith” (emphasis theirs). That would have been enough proof—Kenneth Hagin is considered the Father of the Word of Faith Movement. However, the school added: “Those interested in attending are encouraged to take the free Principles of Faith course syllabus and outline. That will give you an idea of what type of University we are.”

Looking at the sample class, it’s indeed clear what kind of school they are. It’s easy to identify the Word of Faith formula of believing (belief), then speaking faith-filled words (faith) in order to bring something to pass (possessing):

“C. Step Three: the Prayer of Faith... The prayer of faith releases your power to receive a covenant promise of God by faith. You take spiritual possession of a promise before you take actual possession in the natural, visible realm. D. Step Four: Confession. Confession is speaking the Word after you have believed it and before the answer has come or the promise has been manifested. It is also referred to as the "confession of faith..." Confession is where the battle is won or lost. Many Christians undo their prayer of faith by

----------------------

8 Life Christian University, Deborah J. Smith (Campus Representative), e-mail message to author, November 4, 2014.

9 Ibid.
negative thinking and confession. E. Step Five: Possession... Possession is when the promise has manifested – you can see and touch it.”

I was also told I could download a free copy of Divine Faith & Miracles by Dr. Douglass Wingate, the school’s founder and acting president. In it Wingate states that “divine healing and health is a great passion of mine.” He claims the book “will cause you to walk in divine health, divine prosperity” And he clearly teaches “God wants to bless you financially.” Wingate is not alone. Looking at the faculty page, six of the eight senior faculty members hold degrees from Kenneth Hagin’s very own Rhema Bible Training College or another called Word of Faith Bible Institute.

At this point, it was fairly unsurprising to find a list of core classes that include “TH-102 Biblical Finances” which “reveals God’s plan of provision and abundance for His people” and “TH-

12 Ibid., Kindle Locations 267-268.

13 Hagin founded the school in 1974.

104 Divine Healing” which “reveals that physical healing has been provided for every believer in the redemptive work of Christ.”

The material is clearly Word of Faith. The faculty is clearly Word of Faith. It’s safe to say, the school where Joyce earned her PhD in Theology is Word of Faith. She clearly has been educated in the Word of Faith tradition.

2. Joyce Meyer’s Teaching

Can we see evidence of Joyce’s Word of Faith education in her teaching? Before answering this, it will be helpful to identify the teachings we’ll be looking for. Joyce would have certainly studied the teachings of Kenneth Hagin in school; therefore Hagin’s teaching is primarily what will be examined. Now, Hagin’s mentor was E. W. Kenyon. Kenyon is widely considered to be the Grandfather of the Word of Faith movement and is responsible for some of its doctrine and terminology. Kenyon taught we can use positive confession to bring about health and wealth; God Himself used faith to create the world; and Jesus died spiritually taking on Satan’s nature.

15 Ron Rhodes, “Contemporary Cults, Lecture 5” (Veritas Evangelical Seminary, Murrieta, CA, 2013).
Kenneth Hagin is considered to be the Father of the Word of Faith movement. Hagin “borrowed” (or plagiarized) much of Kenyon’s teaching, while adding “new revelation” of his own: humans are little gods; God has a physical body; and the spirit should rule over mind (reason). Time does not permit a comparison of everything. Six central teachings will be examined. The traditional position will be given first to establish a baseline, followed by Hagin’s position, then Meyer’s (the author considers each traditional position to be the biblical one). Points of similarities and differences will be emphasized. Quotes from more radical Word of Faith preachers will occasionally be added for further comparison.

Figure 1 contains a helpful summary chart.
Figure 1: Joyce Meyer compared with Word of Faith Teachers

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Belief</th>
<th>Word of Faith</th>
<th>Joyce Meyer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>(A) Spoken Words Change Reality</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(B) God Himself Uses Faith</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(C) Humans Are Little Gods</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Unclear</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Exact duplicates</td>
<td>Humans are “god-kind”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(D) Jesus Was Born Again In Hell</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Once Affirmed;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Now rejects</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(E) Physical Healing Is Guaranteed</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Affirm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Emphasizes could take time</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(F) Financial Wealth Is Guaranteed</td>
<td>Affirms</td>
<td>Affirm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Conflicting view;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Emphasizes spiritual</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>growth more important</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
(A) Spoken Words Change Reality

Traditional Position

Rather than trying to speak reality into existence, believers are to look to God for provision (Matt. 6:11; 25-33), knowing God’s will always supersedes ours (Matt. 6:10; Lk. 22:42; Jam. 5:13-16). We do not always get what we want (Rom. 12:1; Acts 16:6). Often His will involves hardship and suffering for our good (Heb. 12:5-11; Rom. 5:3). The Bible does not speak of a “force of faith” which can be activated with spoken words.

Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin believed that a person could speak words to change reality. Hagin referred to “the law of faith” as some intrinsic force which could be activated through confession. Spoken confessions alter reality and bring things to pass; people predestine their future by what they say. Speaking faith-filled words or positive confession is the key to success in life. He even encouraged his followers to have “faith in your faith.”

In his view, belief is different from faith. Belief is internal while faith is external. People must activate this law by first believing something internally in the heart (belief) and then speaking it out loud (faith).

“First, a man believes with his heart. Second, he believes with his words. It isn’t enough just to believe in your heart. In order to get God to work for you, you must believe with your words also... The God-kind of faith is the kind of faith in which a man believes with his heart and says with his mouth that which he believes in his heart—and it comes to pass.”

This teaching is central to the Word of Faith movement and is held by all. Fellow LCU graduate Kenneth Copeland says, “Faith is a power force. It is a tangible force. It is a conductive force.” This force “originates from God” and “makes the laws of the spirit world function.”

In addition to positive confession, Kenneth Hagin also taught that negative words release power as well:

“Wrong confession is a confession of defeat and failure... Talking about how the devil is keeping you from success, holding you in bondage, or keeping you sick is a confession of defeat. And such a confession simply glorifies the devil... Many people lose the blessing that God has for them just by making a wrong confession.”

And again,

“If you confess sickness, it will develop sickness in your system. If you talk about your doubts and fears, they will grow and become stronger. If you confess lack of finances, it will stop the money from coming in. Although that may sound like a paradox, it is not. It is the truth. I have proven it true again and again.”

Joyce’s Position

This doctrine is central to Joyce Meyer’s teaching. The phrase “words are containers of power” occurs some two dozen times throughout Joyce’s books. She frequently speaks on the need to think positive and guard the tongue.

“The power of life and death is in the tongue... Words are containers for power, and they can carry either creative or destructive power, as we choose. Choose your words carefully and speak them with caution.”

22 Kenneth E Hagin, How to Write Your Own Ticket with God (Broken Arrow, OK: Faith Library Publications, 2000), 10, emphasis mine.

"With words, we can reach into that spiritual realm, and we can begin to pull things out that are God’s will for us, and get them over here into the realm where we can make use of them. Words have power.”

Many fans might be thinking that they are getting a “positive message.” Little do they know Joyce’s “positive message” is based on the Word of Faith concepts she learned from Hagin at Life Christian University.

Like Hagin, Joyce teaches that God Himself used faith-filled words when creating the universe: “He [God] created the world with faith-filled words (see Genesis 1).” And humans have this same ability: “We are created in His image, and we can also call things that are not as though they are.

25 Joyce’s books are typically found under the “Christian inspirational” category in bookstores. So successful is this market today that her publisher, Hachette Book Group, has created an entire subdivision called FaithWords under which they publish 87 of Joyce’s books. She is the most published author under their inspirational brand, the second being Word of Faith teacher Creflo Dollar with 74 books, followed by Joel Osteen, Copeland and others. See “FaithWords,” Open Library, accessed November 20, 2014, https://openlibrary.org/publishers/FaithWords.

We can speak positive thoughts about ourselves into the atmosphere and thereby ‘prophesy our future.’”

Joyce agrees with Hagin that “faith has to be activated if it is to work, and one of the ways we activate it is through our words.” Positive confession is what she calls this act of speaking faith-filled words.

Joyce freely shares her own confessions over the years which she believes have helped her achieve success in all areas of life. They include “I prosper in everything I put my hand to. I have prosperity in all areas of my life—spiritually, financially, mentally, and socially.” And, “I receive speaking engagements in person, by phone, and/or by mail every day.” She covers all areas of her life with positive confession: personal, professional, financial, spiritual, physical and mental (see Appendix 1). She also has an entire book devoted to this called The Secret Power of Speaking God’s Word.

She also holds to Hagin’s belief that confession works both ways; i.e., there is also negative confession. “If I’m speaking right things I'm going to have right results. And if I'm speaking wrong things I'm going to have wrong results.”

27 Ibid., 2, emphasis mine.

28 Ibid., 123, emphasis mine.

(B) God Himself Uses Faith

Traditional Position

Hebrews 11:1 says, “Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen.” Faith is synonymous with believing and is always used in this sense (Rom. 5:1; 1 Pet. 1:8-9; Eph. 2:1-9; Jam. 1:2). Nowhere does the Bible say faith is an intrinsic force.

Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin taught God Himself uses faith. “God is a faith God. All He had to do was simply say, ‘Let there be light’ (Gen. 1:3), and there was light. God created everything except man by speaking it into existence. He's a faith God.”

“This is the kind of faith that spoke the world into existence! ... God believed that what He said would come to pass. He spoke the Word, and there was an earth. He spoke the vegetable kingdom into existence. He spoke the animal kingdom into existence. He spoke the heavens, the moon, the sun, the stars, and the universe into existence. He said it, and it was so! That is the God-kind of faith. God believed what He said would come to pass, and it did.

____________________

30 Joyce Meyer, "Mind, Mouth, Moods and Attitudes," tape 2 of 4, the "Mouth," emphasis mine.

One Faith teacher even went so far to say that Jesus was brought into the world through God’s positive confessions recorded throughout the Old Testament.\(^3^3\)

Joyce’s Position

Joyce has at least on one occasion taught this: “Words contain creative power. They contain creative or destructive power. If we would go to Genesis 1 you would see that each thing that God created the Bible says, ‘And God said.’ ... It doesn’t say God thought a thought, doesn’t say God waved his hands, it says, ‘and God said.’”\(^3^4\)

(C) Humans Are Little Gods

Traditional Position

The Bible teaches that there is only one God (Deut. 4:35; 6:4; Isa. 44:6; 45:5; 1 Cor. 8:6; Eph. 4:6; 1 Tim. 2:5; Jam. 2:19) There never was or will be any other God in the past or the future (Isa. 43:10).

Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin taught that humans are equal with God. This view is clearly heretical. He said man “was created on terms of equality with God, and he could stand in God's presence without any consciousness of inferiority... God has made us as much like Himself as possible... He made us the same class of being that He is Himself... Man lived in the realm of God. He lived on terms equal with God.” Kenneth E. Hagin, Zoe: the God Kind of Life (Tulsa, OK: Faith Library Publications, 1981), 35-36, 41, emphasis mine.

Therefore, “Man lost his place by high treason against God.” As a result, man took on the nature of Satan. However, through Jesus mankind is restored and has potential to become little gods once again.

36 Ibid., 36.

LCU graduate Kenneth Copeland adds:

"God's reason for creating Adam was His desire to reproduce Himself, I mean a reproduction of Himself. And in the Garden of Eden He did just that. He was not a little like God. He was not almost like God. He was not subordinate to God even... Adam is as much like God as you could get, just the same as Jesus... Adam, in the Garden of Eden, was God manifested in the flesh." 37

Likewise LCU graduate Benny Hinn also commits blasphemy:

"When you say, 'I am a Christian, you are saying, 'I am mashiach' in the Hebrew. I am a little messiah walking on earth, in other words That is a shocking revelation... May I say it like this? You are a little god on earth running around." 38

Joyce’s Position

Joyce seems comfortable placing humans in a “god-kind” category. However, she seems to try to distance herself from Hagin, Copeland and Hinn blasphemous statements:

37 Kenneth Copeland, "Following the Faith of Abraham I" (Fort Worth, TX: Kenneth Copeland Ministries, 1989), audiotape #01-3001, side 1, emphasis mine.

“I was listening to a set of tapes by one man and he explained it like this and I think this kinda gets the point across. He said, ‘You know, why do people have such a fit about God calling his creation, his man, not his whole creation, but his man, little gods. If he’s God, what’s he gonna call them but the God kind. I mean if you a human being have a baby you call it a human kind. If cattle has another cattle they call it cattle kind. So what’s God supposed to call us? Doesn’t the Bible say we’re created in his image? Now you understand, I’m not saying you are God with a capital G. That is not the issue here, so don’t go trying to stone me or yell blasphemy at me.”\(^39\)

(D) Jesus Was Born Again In Hell

Traditional Position

The payment for the sins of all mankind was paid for when Jesus cried out “It is finished.” (Jn. 19:30; Col. 2:14) The day Jesus died he went to paradise (Lk. 23:43) and was returned to glory (Jn. 17:5). Jesus did not take on the nature of Satan (Heb. 13:8).

Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin taught Jesus’ redemption was not completed on the cross, but he also had to suffer an eternity in hell on our behalf. “His spirit, His inner man, went to hell in our place.”\(^{40}\) In hell, he took on the nature of Satan\(^{41}\) but finally overcame and was “the first person ever to be born again.”\(^{42}\)

Joyce’s Position

Initially Joyce did teach this doctrine. However, Tim Martin, who has been studying Joyce Meyer since early 2008, has received confirmation from Joyce Meyer Ministries that she has officially reversed her position. The teaching is prominent in the 1996 version of her book The Most Important Decision You’ll Ever Make, going so far to say a person must affirm it to be saved. After this, the teaching began to disappear from newer revisions of her books. As late as 2003 the teaching could still be found in chapter four of The Most Important

\(^{41}\) Ibid., 31.

\(^{42}\) Ibid., 29-30.
Decision. But by 2005, the spiritual death of Jesus doctrine is completely gone.43

In 2008, Martin contacted Joyce Meyer Ministries for clarification on her position and they did, in fact, confirm that Joyce now rejects this doctrine with this reply: "We do not believe that Jesus had to be tortured in hell to pay for our sins. When He said ‘It is finished!’ on the cross, the price for salvation was paid."44

(E) Physical Healing Is Guaranteed

Traditional Position

At the Fall, the entire world was subjected to privation and decay (Gen. 3:17-19; Rom. 8:20-22). Satan, demons and evil men and women continue to work evil acts within the world (1 Pet. 5:8; Rom. 1:18-31) which can introduce even more 44 More of this important e-mail: “Dear Tim, In response to your email, we want to let you know that we do not believe that Jesus had to be tortured in hell to pay for our sins. When He said ‘It is finished!’ on the cross, the price for salvation was paid. However, the question of whether Jesus went to hell after He died on the cross has many varied opinions. We’ll do our best to address the issue as we see it [explanation of 1 Pet. 3:18-20; 5:8; Psa. 22] We have listed some Scriptures that will help you with your further study in this area.” Joyce Meyer Ministries, e-mail message to Tim Martin, July 30, 2008.

suffering, sickness and disease. However, God will quarantine evil in the future (Rev. 20:11-15) and there will be a new heaven and new earth where there will be no more evil, sickness and suffering (Rev. 21:1-5).

Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin taught that physical healing is presently guaranteed for believers. People need to positively confess their healing to receive it. Isaiah 53:5, “by his stripes we are healed,” is one primary passage which he used to support his belief.

A person’s mind might rationally tell them they are sick, but a person should be led by their spirit and reject the sickness. If a person gives into their sense, then the healing is prevented.

“If instead of confessing that Jesus ‘took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses,’ we declare that we still have them, we will remain sick. But when we start confessing that He already has done something about our sicknesses, we will receive healing. Too often we accept the testimony of our physical senses instead of the testimony of God's Word. We must practice God's Word for it to work for us.”

Hagin was careful to add that healing could take time:

“Some things, such as some financial needs and the manifestation of some healings, etc., may take time to develop. Then the four steps [confession; acting as though it’s been received; receiving it; and telling others] become principles that you must put into practice over a period of time.”

LCU graduate Kenneth Copeland talks about the need for persistence this way:

“Pain has come, disaster has come. Now for a while you’re going have to stop and control and discipline yourself. And every time you’re going to have to make the decision: I refuse to consider my body, I refuse to be moved by what I see and what I feel.”

It is worth noting that Fred Price carries the guaranteed physical healing doctrine to its logical conclusion. If faith has been guaranteed to the believer, ultimately, it is the Christian who is to blame if they are sick. He said:

“Some people get upset and say, ‘I don't believe that [that all believers should be healed].’ Go ahead and die then. The Bible says, ‘according to your faith, be it unto you.’ ... If you don't believe in that, go ahead and die.

____________________

46 Kenneth E Hagin, How to Write Your Own Ticket with God (Broken Arrow, OK: Faith Library Publications, 2000), 6, emphasis mine.

47 Kenneth Copeland, West Coast Believer’s Convention (lecture, Anaheim, CA, June 13, 1991), emphasis mine.
will believe and be healed... You can die of cancer; you can die of a stroke. That's ok... If you don't believe then stay sick.⁴⁸

Price goes so far to say, "How can you glorify God in your body when it doesn't function right? How can you glorify God? How can He get the glory when your body doesn't even work?⁴⁹ ⁵₀

Joyce’s Position

Joyce holds to this position but is careful, like Hagin, to emphasize that God doesn’t always heal instantly. Her belief in this teaching can be seen in her statement that sickness is illegal and reference to Isaiah 53:5:

“It is vital for us to understand that it is illegal for Satan to put sickness on us, and there is no good reason to let him do it... The moment we begin to recognize the symptoms of sickness, we need to stand against them—we need to resist them in the same way

---

⁴⁸ Fred Price quoted in audio clip from Ron Rhodes, “Contemporary Cults, Lecture 5” (Veritas Evangelical Seminary, Murrieta, CA, 2013), emphasis mine.

⁵₀ As one with a devoted Christian quadriplegic grandfather who died when I was young because of a surgical complication related to his paralysis, I am horrified and greatly angered that any preacher would suggest it was my grandfather’s fault he was paralyzed because he did not have enough faith.
we would resist the temptation to sin... I believe that by the stripes of Jesus, I am healed.”

She uses the argument that since Jesus apparently healed all that God always wants all to be healed:

“Some people believe God wants them to be sick... If God wants people to be sick, why did Jesus heal people? It is important we know God’s will; otherwise we cannot release our faith to receive it.”

She draws a distinction between her position on the topic and the traditional “man-made” teaching (God does not always heal but uses suffering for our good):

“I decided I would believe the Word of God rather than man-made doctrines that had no power. Like multitudes of other seekers throughout history, I discovered wonderful truths that promised me eternal life, victory, peace, joy, righteousness, justification, freedom from guilt and condemnation, hope, prosperity, healing, power, and authority. And I discovered these things were for my life here on earth, and not just for when I die and go to heaven, as so many people believe.”

53 Ibid., 119, emphasis mine.
Finally, like Hagin, she teaches that people can use positive confession to appropriate the healing:

“I always encourage people to confess God’s Word out loud... When people call our office for prayer when they are sick, we often send them a list of healing Scriptures we recommend they confess out loud. We tell them to do it as diligently as they would take medicine.”

(F) Financial Wealth Is Guaranteed

Traditional Position

God indeed does bless people with wealth and many of them are recorded in the Bible (e.g., Abraham, David, Solomon, Lydia). However, the Bible warns against the danger of making money a high priority (1 Tim. 6:10). It is forbidden to trust in riches (2 Tim. 6:17) and those with means are to share with those in need (1 Tim. 6:18). Christians are commanded to not love worldly things (1 Jn. 2:15-17) and lovers of the world are identified with the great harlot, Babylon, or the world system which will ultimately be destroyed (Rev. 18:3).

54 Ibid., 169, emphasis mine.
Word of Faith Position

Kenneth Hagin taught that financial wealth is guaranteed. According to Hagin, the promises of God to bless His people in the Old Testament apply to us today. “Abraham's blessing—the blessing for keeping God's commands, His Word—is ours because of Jesus Christ! ... Abraham's blessing includes financial prosperity, and it's for us today.”

God "wants His children to eat the best, He wants them to wear the best clothing, He wants them to drive the best cars, and He wants them to have the best of everything.”

However, Hagin preached that balance was needed. He said people should never give just to get something in return and it’s important to “keep your attitude and motives right.”

“Some people are more interested in making a dollar than they are in serving God. But spiritual things must come first if you are going to be spiritual. You must esteem the things of God—spiritual things—more than earthly things. One qualification for prospering is to esteem earthly things lightly. You cannot put earthly things above spiritual things and expect to prosper as God desires you to. No, it's not wrong to have money. It's wrong for money to have you. It's wrong for money to be your ruler or master or for you to consume finances on your own lusts.”

58 Ibid., 23.

But if a person’s motivation and spiritual priorities are in their proper place, Hagin said God will give the increase. How? Simply confess and claim it.

“The Lord spoke to me and said, ‘Don't pray for money anymore. You have authority through my Name to claim prosperity... all you need to do is say, “Satan, take your hands off my money.” Just claim what you need.’”

Hagin held a moderate view of prosperity when compared to other modern Word of Faith teachers. In contrast, Robert Tilton says that “being poor is a sin when God promises prosperity!” And Fred Price audaciously boasts:

“The whole point is I'm trying to get you to see-to get you out of this malaise of thinking that Jesus and the disciples were poor and then relating that to you thinking that you, as a child of God, have to follow Jesus. The Bible says that He has left us an example that we should follow His steps. That's the reason why I drive a Rolls Royce. I'm following Jesus' steps.”\(^\text{62}\)

---

Hagin was concerned about such extreme positions. Before his death in 2003 he reportedly “summoned many of his colleagues to Tulsa to rebuke them for distorting his message. He was not happy that some of his followers were manipulating the Bible to support what he viewed as greed and selfish indulgence.”\(^\text{63}\)

Joyce’s Position

Joyce Meyer seems to waiver a bit on this teaching. The majority of her teaching seems to indicate that she believes all will prosper financially. The idea of a Christian being poor is “a life from the pit of hell.”\(^\text{64}\) This is because, like Hagin taught and Life Christian University teaches, God’s promises of prosperity for the Israelites apply to believers today:

“Verse 3 [refereeing to Joshua 1:3] says every place on which the sole of your foot shall tread that I have \(^\text{64}\) Joyce Meyer, “From the Cross to the Throne” (Life Christian Center, Saint Louis, MO, n.d.). She also says in this quote “I am not a sinner” but has since repudiated this statement.

given unto you as I promised Moses. So basically what he said to Joshua was... Every promise in the Word of God is available to you, every promise. Wisdom, strength, joy, peace, righteousness, creativity, prosperity, good health, long life, favor, good friends, great relationships, hearing from God, being led by the Spirit. Just an overall blessed, wonderful life.”

That said, there may be some indication she might hold that it is not always God’s will to bless financially—or at least that it can be necessarily limited by God.

“I do believe you will prosper in all you lay your hand to. I am not suggesting that everyone will be a multimillionaire, but I do believe everyone can have his needs met and have an abundant supply left over so he can help those in need.”

She also at times seems to hold to Hagin’s moderate view:
“The Bible teaches us to guard against greed and keep ourselves free from all covetousness (the immoderate desire for wealth and the greedy longing to have more.)” And, “Some wealthy people are still miserable because money does not make people happy.”

Regardless of her position on whether it is always God’s will or how much can be obtained, one thing Joyce is clear about is that money should not be the believer’s focus; at least it should not come before God. Unlike some of her peers, she emphasizes a relationship with God over money. She discourages seeking money in place of God.

“Our pursuit of money can ruin our relationship with God, but it doesn’t have to... as long as we keep things in balance and don’t let ourselves crave money more than we crave God.”

In terms of how a person obtains this financial prosperity, her teaching lines up with Hagin; if one’s priorities are in order, it can come through faith-filled words:

“Maybe you need to get your checkbook out and say, ‘Oh you checkbook, hear the word of the Lord, you are NOT going to stay empty all of your life... You listen to me checkbook... you are going to be full to overflowing. And I am gonna be blessed.”

Similar to Hagin, Joyce teaches that a person must be careful that they do not undo positive confession by making negative confession. This is very serious, as God Himself cannot do anything for a person if they make negative confession:

“You know you get into these little prayer groups at church. And you have somebody pray that you’ll prosper, and pray that you’ll succeed and then you don’t help the process at all with the words of your mouth. God himself cannot do anything for you if you’re gonna ask him for it and then turn right around and talk him out of it.”

Finally, those who say negative things regarding financial confession are actually helping Satan keep them poor: “As long as you cannot see yourself having abundance and prosperity, you will say things that hinder God from blessing you and help Satan keep you poor.” It is God’s plan for people to be rich; Satan’s to keep people poor.

---

69 Ibid., 18:45 - 19:27, emphasis mine.

Is She Word of Faith By Her Teaching?

The evidence strongly shows that Joyce Meyer affirms much of the Word of Faith doctrine she learned from Hagin at Life Christian University. In short, she clearly holds four of the six teachings: (A) spoken words change reality; (B) God Himself uses faith; (E) physical healing is guaranteed; and (F) financial wealth is guaranteed. As to point (C) it is simply unclear to what extend she believes humans are little gods. Therefore, based on her teaching, she is Word of Faith.

3. Joyce Meyer’s Platform

As already mentioned, Joyce Meyer has an enormous fan base of millions, perhaps billions of people. With that kind of notoriety, a Christian leader must be careful with whom they share the stage; an appearance with unbiblical minister or ministry would naturally be seen as an endorsement. While not often, Joyce has shared the stage with Word of Faith teachers. Most notable was her participation at the 2008 Word of Faith Conference where. With a name like that, it ought to be clear what the speakers affirm. Joyce spoke alongside Kenneth Copeland, Gloria Copeland, John Hagee and other prominent Faith preachers. Her session was between two sessions by Kate McVeigh on “Faith and Healing.”

Then there is the affiliation with her long-time friend, Don Clowens, who has toured with Joyce in the past and actively sits on her board of directors. Clower’s ministry covers topics such as “I Think Myself Happy,” “God's Seven Laws of Increase,” and “God's Prescription to Health and Healing.” He writes in his book, God’s Seven Laws of Increase, that “many Christians do not know that it is God's will for them to have financial increase and to prosper spiritually, emotionally, and financially.” Among other topics, he promises in his book to show that “God wants you to prosper” and “what the spirit of lack and poverty is—and how to be set free from it.”

Perhaps most alarming in terms of who she shares her platform with is her endorsement of Life Christian University, her alma mater. The school clearly boasts a list of alumni that make up some of the strongest Word of Faith preachers in the country.

And it requires students to study books by more radical Faith teacher Kenneth Copeland. And Joyce Meyer endorses this school? She allows her trademarked picture to be used alongside Kenneth and Gloria Copeland and Benny Hinn (see Figure 2). She also has recorded an endorsement video where she highly recommends the by school saying,

“I’m honored to be an LCU graduate. It is an institute of excellence and I’m thrilled to see how God is expanding it so quickly around the world. There’s such a need today for intelligent, well-informed Christians who not only know what they’re talking about but can also relate to people. The world needs to hear the truth and the truth has to be real.”

The question has to be asked, if Joyce is not Word of Faith, then why does she periodically share her platform with Word of Faith preachers? Why does she have at least one board member who promotes the prosperity gospel? And why does she endorse the school that produced Faith radicals Kenneth Copeland and Benny Hinn?

---

Figure 2: Joyce Meyer Endorsing Life Christian University

Joyce Meyer appears alongside strong Word of Faith teachers Kenneth Copeland and Benny Hinn to endorse Life Christian University, her alma mater. Joyce holds an earned PhD from LCU—the same degree as Copeland and Hinn.75

Finally, what does Joyce’s lifestyle reveal about her position on Word of Faith doctrine? The St. Louis Post-Dispatch detailed her extravagant lifestyle in 2003. First listed is her transportation:

“Meyer drives the ministry’s 2002 Lexus SC sports car with a retractable top, valued at $53,000. Her son Dan, 25, drives the ministry’s 2001 Lexus sedan, with a value of $46,000. Meyer’s husband drives his [$107,000] Mercedes-Benz S55 AMG sedan... The Meyers keep the ministry’s Canadair CL-600 Challenger jet, which Joyce Meyer says is worth $10 million, at Spirit of St. Louis Airport in Chesterfield. The ministry employs two full-time pilots to fly the Meyers to conferences around the world.”

Next is Joyce’s three story ministry headquarters which “has the look and feel of a luxury resort hotel” and is furnished with:

“a $19,000 pair of Dresden vases, six French crystal vases bought for $18,500, an $8,000 Dresden porcelain depicting the Nativity, two $5,800 curio cabinets, a $5,700 porcelain of the Crucifixion, a pair of German porcelain vases bought for $5,200. The decor includes a

---

77 Ibid.
$30,000 malachite round table, a $23,000 marble-topped antique commode, a $14,000 custom office bookcase, a $7,000 Stations of the Cross in Dresden porcelain, a $6,300 eagle sculpture on a pedestal, another eagle made of silver bought for $5,000, and numerous paintings purchased for $1,000 to $4,000 each. Inside Meyer's private office suite sit a conference table and 18 chairs bought for $49,000. The woodwork in the offices of Meyer and her husband cost the ministry $44,000. In all, assessor's records of the ministry's personal property show that nearly $5.7 million worth of furniture, artwork, glassware, and the latest equipment and machinery fill the 158,000-square-foot building."78

Finally, there are the homes for Joyce and her children:

"Since 1999, the ministry has spent at least $4 million on five homes for Meyer and her four children near Interstate 270 and Gravois Road, St. Louis County records show. Meyer's house, the largest of the five, is a 10,000-square-foot Cape Cod style estate home with a guest house and a garage that can be independently heated and cooled and can hold up to eight cars. The three-acre property has a large fountain, a gazebo, a private putting green, a pool and a poolhouse where the ministry recently added a $10,000 bathroom. The ministry pays for utilities, maintenance and landscaping costs at all five homes. It also pays for renovations... Even the property taxes, $15,629 this year, are paid by the ministry."79

Figure 3 shows the Meyer Family Compound.

78 Ibid.
79 Ibid.
“Joyce Meyer Ministries bought these 5 homes for Meyer and her family. The ministry pays for all expenses, including landscaping and lawn care, property taxes and rehab work. Meyer, her husband and each of their four married children live in the homes—free of charge.”

1. Residence of: Joyce and Dave Meyer
   - Purchase Price: About $795,000
   - Square Footage: 10,000
   - Cost of Improvements: $1.1 Million
   - Features: 6 Bedrooms, 5 Bathrooms, Gold Putting Green, Swimming pool, 8 Car Heated and Cooled Garage, Guest House with 2 more bedrooms, Gazebo.
2. Residence of: Daughter, Sandra McCollom and her husband Steve
   Purchase Price: $400,000
   Square Footage: About 5,000
   Cost of Improvements: About $250,000
   Features: 4 Bedrooms, 3 full and 2 half Bathrooms, All-Seasons room, Prayer Room, Media Center and a Home Office.

3. Residence of: Son, David Meyer and his wife Joy Meyer.
   Purchase Price: $725,000
   Square Footage: 4,000
   Cost of Improvements: Unknown
   Features: 2 Story Colonial, 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 Bathrooms, 2 Garages and a Utility Shed

4. Residence of: Daughter, Laura Holtzmann and her husband Doug
   Purchase Price: $350,000
   Square Footage: 2,358
   Cost of Improvements: $3,000
   Features: 3 Bedrooms, 2 Bathrooms with a Fireplace.

5. Residence of: Son, Dan Meyer and his wife Charity
   Purchase Price: About 200,000
   Square Footage: About 2,000
   Cost of Improvements: $33,000
   Features: Brick Ranch With Full Finished Basement

---

The reporter quotes Joyce as saying, "We teach and preach and believe biblically that God wants to bless people who serve Him... so there's no need for us to apologize for being blessed." The reporter added, "Joyce Meyer says God has made her rich." To substantiate this she pointed to a then recent conference where Joyce had said, "If you stay in your faith, you are going to get paid... I'm living now in my reward."

Final Conclusion

There are some positives with Joyce Meyer. She emphasizes the importance of not seeking prosperity in place of God. She also encourages people to develop a closer walk with God and even warns people about the dangers of lusting after money. She is also to be commended for changing her position on the spiritual death of Jesus, which is not an easy thing for such a prominent, well published author to do.

However, she has an earned PhD from a Word of Faith seminary that primarily uses textbooks authored by the Father

---

81 Ibid, emphasis mine.
82 Ibid.
of the Word of Faith, Kenneth Hagin. This degree is the exact same degree from the same institution as Kenneth Copeland, Benny Hinn and other strong Word of Faith teachers. She clearly holds to central Word of Faith doctrines from Kenneth Hagin. The bulk of her teaching centers on the Word of Faith dogma that spoken faith-filled words have power to change reality. She distances herself from the more radical Word of Faith teachers but it is clear that the bulk of her “positive” message is based on the Word of Faith worldview. She has appeared at a Word of Faith conference, has at least one “prosperity preacher” board member, and endorses a seminary where traditional and radical Word of Faith doctrine is taught.
Joyce Meyer is Word of Faith. Therefore, she cannot be recommended.
Appendix 1: Favorite Positive Confessions of Joyce Meyer

These are statements that Joyce has “positively confessed” over the years. By speaking statements like these out loud she believes that she is releasing power through her faith-filled words to alter reality and bring what is spoken to pass.

I prosper in everything I put my hand to. I have prosperity in all areas of my life—spiritually, financially, mentally, and socially.

All my children have lots of Christian friends, and God has set aside a Christian wife or husband for each of them.

I take good care of my body. I eat right, I look good, I feel good, and I weigh what God wants me to weigh.

I am a giver. It is more blessed to give than to receive. I love to give! I have plenty of money to give away all the time.

Work is good. I enjoy work. Glory!

Pain cannot successfully come against my body because Jesus bore all my pain.

I do not allow the devil to use my spirit as a garbage dump by meditating on negative things that he offers me.

I don’t speak negative things.

My children love to pray and study the Word. They openly and boldly praise God.

I walk in the spirit all of the time.

All that I own is paid for. I owe no man anything except to love him in Christ.

I receive speaking engagements in person, by phone, and/or by mail every day.
Bibliography

  https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=b07ABT1O2D4.

